nerves of steel 铁胆/Uh, yeah, I just got my ~~pick-up sticks~~ back from the shop. Bring your ~~nerves of steel~~: nerves of steel is a idiom which means be able to speak or act calmly when facing risk or danger, for eg: →Percy has nerves of steel. He persuaded the gunman to leave. ← ~~pick-up sticks~~ means the game of jackstraws (这是本集比较难的一个地方,我想多说几句: JACKSTRAWS 很象我们小时候玩的游戏,挑彩签.老美用的是竹签,大约 100 根左右,然后随手一洒,每个人轮流用 胸针挑,但不能碰到其他的签,和我们不同的是,竹签不是以颜色来区分,而是用不同的形状,比如 Ladder(n. 梯状), hoe(n. 锄头状), rake(n. 耙子状), shovel(n. 铲状), ax(n. 斧状)等等,因为 hoe 一般比 shovel 难挑,所以分值也高,最后按每个人挑的类别来统计总分.我想,这样的解释你大概就会明白随后 Richard 为什么会说了一句: →They are different than my other friends, they don't start sentences with, you know, who just died shoveling snow?← 这样看上去没头没脑的话了.)

RICHARD: It's the basketball playoffs.

playoff n. 季后赛

RICHARD: Uh, they're not in it.

MONICA: Ok, then just go.

RICHARD: Ok. [leaves]

MONICA: Oh, why does this bother me so much? I mean I don't wanna be one of those people who tells their boyfriend they wanna spend 24 hours a day with them.

PHOEBE: Sure.

MONICA: It's just that he doesn't have that much free time, ya know, and I don't know, what do I do?

PHOEBE: Does it matter? You're ultimately just gonna die or get divorced or have to blow your pets head off.
blow off 枪杀

RACHEL: [enters] Aghh.

PHOEBE: Me too. [leaves]

MONICA: I've got a question. Richard made plans again with the guys.

RACHEL: Yeah well, Ross just made plans for the whole century.

ROSS: The big book of childrens' names 儿童姓名大全.

RACHEL: Ok, Ross, Ross, ok listen, what we have is amazing.

ROSS: Ok fine.

RACHEL: Thank you.

ROSS: We're not done.

RACHEL: I didn't know that.

ROSS: Ok, then you're gonna have to understand that you're with a guy who's not gonna stop planning his future with you because he knows that we're gonna end up together and if that scares you, tough (adv. 很不幸的是), 'cause you're gonna have to deal with that.

RACHEL: Fine, I will.
