601 离开拉斯维加斯

罗斯和瑞秋起床后完全忘了昨晚结婚的荒唐事。

早餐时，朋友们打听起来，两人方才如梦初醒，决定返纽约后取消婚约。

罗斯请瑞秋放心，此事他会全权料理，但他食言了。

钱德和莫妮卡均对自己的婚事意兴阑珊，但又说不出口。

如果两人的结合是命中注定，应该还会有征兆吧？征兆一个接着一个，但他们始终不肯认命。最后钱德建议同居。

乔伊接手菲比的食物供应车后，说服菲比陪他驾车回家。他承诺旅程会趣味盎然，但一路上他睡着的时候居多。

6.01 The One After Vegas

Ross and Rachel wake up in bed together, remembering almost nothing about the night before.

At breakfast, their friends ask them about it.

Shocked, they decide to get an annulment once they're back in New York.

Ross tells Rachel he's taken care of it, but he hasn't.

Neither Chandler nor Monica wants to go through with (v. 把：进行到底 完成) their own marriage plans, but each one is scared to back out (v. 收回 停止不干).

They decide to look for another sign... but even though the signs keep coming, they keep denying it.

Finally, Chandler suggests they live together.

Joey (who still has Phoebe's cab) convinces her to keep him company on the drive home.

He promises to make it a fun road trip, but he ends up sleeping most the time.

[Scene: The Wedding Chapel, continued from last season. Chandler and Monica are about to get married.]

Chandler: Okay! (Stands up) This is it! (Claps his hands)

Ross: Well, hello, Mrs. Ross! (Throws some rice.)

shower of rice 婚礼时撒向新人的生米 °结婚仪式中很有趣的一项就是大家要向新婚夫妇头上撒生米(uncooked rice) °→生米意味着生儿育女`多子多福`有祝福的意思/Tossing rice became most popular in America. Throwing things at a newly married couple is a very old tradition that may date back to ancient Rome or Egypt or even further back. The custom is intended to give newlyweds(n. 新婚夫妇) good luck, and most of the items thrown at the couple represent fertility and abundance. Food has always been a popular choice because it symbolizes plentiful crops. Seeds and nuts symbolize fertility because a little seed may grow into a big plant, an appropriate sentiment for a newly married couple. Grains such as wheat and rice were thrown over the newlyweds in the hopes that the couple would be prosperous and have many children to work the land.

Rachel: Well, hello, Mr. Rachel! (Throws some more rice.)

(They storm out into the street.)

Rachel: Wait! (Gets her bearings) Okay!

(She goes one way; he goes the other. The camera pans back to Chandler and Monica, and needless to say, they're standing there dumbstruck.)

Monica: Whoa!

Chandler: Oh my God!

Joey: (entering with Phoebe) Come on Pheebs! Hurry! Hurry! Hurry! Hurry!

Phoebe: Okay! Okay! Okay! (They run into the chapel.)

(Chandler and Monica are stunned again.)

Chandler: Oh my God!! Is everybody getting married?!!

(Phoebe and Joey run back out and head towards the street.)

Attendant: (scolding them) N-No running in the chapel!

scold v. 责骂 斥责

Phoebe: (to her) Hey! Don't you give me any of your | Hey! (Sees Chandler and Monica standing there.)

Chandler: Hey!

Joey: Hey!

Monica: What are you guys doing here?

Joey: Ross and Rachel left us a message saying they were getting married! Isn't that why you guys are here?

Chandler: Yes! Well that-yes.

Monica: Why else would we be here?

Joey: Well! What happened?! Did we miss it?

Chandler: We actually missed it.

Phoebe: Well, Maybe you wouldn't have if you could run in the chapel!

Monica: I can't believe they got married.

Joey: I know! I didn't even know they were dating again.

Chandler: I don't think they're as much dating as they are two bottles of vodka walking around in human form.

Vodka is one of the world's most consumed distilled(adj. 由蒸馏得来的) beverages. It is typically a colorless liquid containing ethanol(n. 酒精) purified by distillation(n. 蒸馏) from a fermented(v. 发酵) substance such as grain or molasses(n. 蜜糖). The word is constructed as a diminutive(adj. 指小辞) of "water" in various Slavic(adj. 斯拉夫语的) languages. Except for various types of flavorings, vodka consists of water and alcohol (=ethanol). It usually has an alcohol content ranging from 35% to 50% by volume. The classic Russian and Polish vodka is 40% (USA 80 proof). This can be attributed to(v. 归因于) the Russian standards for vodka production introduced in 1894 by Alexander III from research undertaken by the Russian chemist Dmitri Mendeleev. According to the Vodka Museum in Moscow, Mendeleev(门捷列夫) found the perfect percentage to be 38, but since spirits(n. 烈酒 酒精) in his time were taxed on their strength, the percentage was rounded up to 40 to simplify the tax computation. At strengths[n. (酒等的) 浓度] less than this, vodka drunk neat (not mixed with other liquids) can taste 'watery' and above this strength the taste of vodka can have more 'burn'. Some governments set a minimum alcohol content for a spirit to be called "vodka"; for example, the European Union sets a minimum of 37.5% alcohol by volume. Although vodka is generally drunk neat[adj. (酒) 纯的 不掺水的] in its Eastern European and Scandinavian homeland, its growth in popularity elsewhere owes much to its usefulness in cocktails and other mixed drinks, such as the Bloody Mary, the Screwdriver, the Vodka Tonic, and the Vodka Martini.

Monica: This is insane!

Phoebe: What's the big deal, y'know? It's not like it's a real marriage.

Chandler: What?!

Phoebe: Yeah, if you get married in Vegas, you're only married in Vegas.

Monica: What are you talking about? If you get married in Vegas you're married everywhere.

Phoebe: (shocked) Really?!

Monica: Yeah!

Phoebe: Oh my God! | Eh! Well :

Phoebe: What about my cab?

Joey: I don't need that anymore.

Phoebe: No, Joey! You borrowed my cab; you have to drive it back.

Joey: I don't want to drive all the way back by myself, I get so lonely. (Gets an idea.) Oh | ooh! How about you come with me?

Phoebe: I don't know, it's such a long trip.

Joey: It'll be great! We-we could talk, and play games! Huh? This could be our chance to like renew our friendship.

Phoebe: Are you asking me to have a f-renaissance?

Frenaissance ‘乔伊不愿一个人开车从拉斯维加斯回纽约’他邀请菲比同去’并说这是两人重新恢复友谊的好机会’菲比就说：‘那是要我一起参加一次友谊复兴(Frenaissance)吗?’这是菲比生造的一个词’将友谊(Friendship)和文艺复兴(Renaissance)联在一起 /The Renaissance (French: "rebirth," Italian: "Rinascimento"), was a cultural movement that spanned roughly the 14th through the 17th century, beginning in Italy in the late Middle Ages and later spreading to the rest of Europe. It encompassed(v. 包括某事物) the revival of learning based on classical sources, the rise of courtly(adj. 尊严而有礼貌的) and papal(adj. 教皇制度的) patronage(n. 恩惠), the development of perspective(n. 透视画法) in painting, and advancements in science. The Renaissance had wide-ranging consequences in all intellectual pursuits, but is perhaps best known for its artistic aspect and the contributions of such polymaths(n. 博学者) as Leonardo da Vinci and Michelangelo, who have inspired the term "Renaissance men". There is a general | though by no means(adv. 绝不) unchallenged(adj. 未引起争议的) | consensus that the Renaissance began in Florence in the fourteenth century. Various theories have been proposed to explain its origin and characteristics, focusing on an assortment of factors, including the social and civic peculiarities of Florence at this time including its political structure and the patronage of its dominant family, the Medici. The Renaissance has a long and complex historiography(n. 编史), and there has always been debate among historians as to the usefulness of the Renaissance as a term and as a historical age. Some have called into question whether the Renaissance really was a cultural "advance" from the Middle Ages, instead seeing it as a period of pessimism(n. 悲观主义的) and nostalgia(n. 乡愁) for the classical age. While nineteenth-century historians were keen to emphasise that the Renaissance represented a clear "break" from Medieval thought and practice, some modern historians have instead focused on the continuity between the two eras. Indeed, it is now usually considered incorrect to classify any historical period as "better" or "worse", leading some to call for an end to the use of the term, which they see as a product of presentism. The word Renaissance has also been used to describe other historical and cultural movements, such as the Carolingian(adj. 王朝的) Renaissance and the Byzantine(adj. 拜占庭的) Renaissance. n. 文艺复兴 文艺复兴时期

Joey: Sure?

Phoebe: All right. Although I don't think we need one, I never stopped loving you.

Chandler: Look, I just don't think Monica and I get ready to get married yet! Y'know? Chandler: (not quite sure) You did.

Ross: What?! Hello! We didn't get married.

Rachel: No, we didn't get married! That's ridiculous!

(They turn to look at each other and suddenly remember that they did in fact get married.)

Ross: We-we-we | I remember being in a chapel.

Rachel: Oh my God.

Ross: I | They would not let us get married when we were that drunk!

Joey: They let you get married when you're drunk! Most people who get married in Vegas are drunk!

It is also often served to early guests at weddings, and in first class on jet airliners. Grenadine(n. 一种糖浆) and a cherry can be added for extra color. The Mimosa was reportedly invented at the Ritz Hotel in Paris around 1925. Orangina(n. 一种天然纯果汁) or a tablespoon(n. 大汤匙) of Grand Marnier (technically a Grand Mimosa) are sometimes added. In the United Kingdom, the drink is often called a "Buck's fizz", which is the same name as another similar popular cocktail.

Monica: What are you guys gonna do?

Chandler: You wanna play some Pai Gow?

Chandler: That's a good idea. I wanna talk about last night too and I don't know what Pai Gow is.

Pai Gow (Chinese: 牌九) is a Chinese gambling game that is played with a Chinese dominoes tile set (n. 多米诺骨牌). Pai Gow is played in unsanctioned (adj. 未批准的) casinos in most Chinese communities. It is played openly in major casinos in Macau, China, Las Vegas, Nevada, Atlantic City, New Jersey, in many California cardrooms, and in some Australian and New Zealand casinos. It is an ancient game, thousands of years old, and steeped (v. 沉浸) in tradition. The name "Pai Gow" is sometimes used to refer to a card game called Pai Gow Poker (or Double Hand Poker), which is loosely based on Pai Gow.

Monica: I see, So, what do you think we should do?

Chandler: I don't know. But I-I-I know I love you!

Monica: I know I love you! (They hug.)

Chandler: So where are we 'on the whole going back to the place where they have all the marriages thing? I love you.

Monica: That's a good question. Look umm, last night we let the dice decide. Maybe we should leave it up to fate again. I love you!

Chandler: Yes, we don't get married unless there's a sign! Okay, so say uh, say you roll another eight (motions to the craps table) then there's a definite sign that we should get married.

Monica: All right, eight we get married, but 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, 9, 10, 11, 12 we don't get married.

Monica: Wow! I can't believe I actually rolled an eight.

Chandler: That was so unlikely. Well, let's get married! I guess.

Monica: Wait a minute. That wasn't a hard eight! Last night I rolled a hard eight.

Chandler: That's right! It was the wrong kind of eight, no wedding! Damnit!

Monica: I wanted it so bad! (Pause) Wanna go pack?

Chandler: Yeah. (They go pack.) We're doing the right thing, right?

Monica: Ohh, of course we are! (They walk up to the elevators.) We left it up to fate. (Pushes the elevator button.) If we were supposed to get married there would be a clear-cut sign. Joey: Pheeb, I am so sorry! I know I promised you a fun road trip with your friend and I didn't deliver 做到. But-but-but now I know that you think being awake is an important part of friendship! So, so, so I will strive to-to stay awake for as long as I know you.

as long as 只要 在...的时候

Phoebe: You can still sleep at night and stuff.

Joey: Well, thank you. So, can we play 20 Questions now? I've got a really good one! I've been thinking about it since Kansas.

Twenty Questions was a popular radio and television quiz series based on the spoken parlor game (n. 室内游戏) which encourages deductive (adj. 推论的) reasoning and creativity. One player is chosen to be the answerer. That person chooses a subject but does not reveal this to the others. All other players are questioners. They each take turns asking a question which can be answered with a simple "Yes" or "No." In variants of the game, multiple state answers may be included such as the answer "Maybe." The answerer answers each question in turn. Sample questions could be: "Is it in this room?" or "Is it bigger than a breadbox?" Lying is not allowed, as it would ruin the game. If a questioner guesses the correct answer, that questioner wins and becomes the answerer for the next round. If 20 questions are asked without a correct guess, then the answerer has stumped (<口>向...挑战 使...为难 难住) the questioners and gets to be the answerer for another round.
